

Activity Report for the fiscal year 2009

1. The Mazak Foundation granted subventions to domestic and overseas individuals, universities, and laboratories that are tackling researches into and developments for new technologies of high-production systems in production engineering, machine elements, information communication technologies, machine tools, and peripheral equipment such as robots. It also honored young research workers who presented excellent research papers in machine tools.
2. There were 37 applications for subventions and 22 applications for papers.
3. As a result of examination, 17 applicants were granted for subventions and 13 excellent papers were honored.